The Chairman decided that the question was on the substitute or amendments of Mr.

King.

The Chair said that a gentlemen from the excluded Miscouri delayation wished to address the Convention. On being put to dress the Cosvention. On being put to vite, the request was deciled.

The Chair ruled that Mr. King's report was encospit ble of divison.

On motion that part of the majority report which referred to the ancontacted distingwas adopted, so that a rule sould be taken. of Mr. King to asset both sets of Missouri delegates.

While Mr. King was reading his report (he is an immensely short and broad backed man) a gentleman to whom his took was turned, asked him to take the stand, for it was se far to him when in that position, that those in that part of the house could mot hear him (Laughter.) Mr. King took the stand and advocated his proposition.

Mr. Brannegan, of Connecticot, did not want, now that the Convention had passed from a most too Convention, to have it passed back from a Convention to a work only organized delegation that represented a Republican organization when the call was made for the Convention; all other organizations were robe is. It represented cigaty-drecounties in a Convention of 400 delegates. The Claybank portion afterwards galled a Convention of their own by a subscription paper But are counties were represented in it, and 140 delegates at the highest and events five at the lowest count. The question is, shall we perpetuate this fould in Misconti is it, and the lowest count. The question is, shall we perpetuate this feed in Missouri?

Dr. Breckinridge, of My, moved to amend Mr. King's smeathment—that when the two delegatious cannot agree they may divide the vote. He said that if the report of its majority of the committee was accepted the state of Missouri would be remanded back to a worse condition than ever.

Mr. Dorrey, of Othe, was in favor of secrepting the report of the majority of the committee.

Judge Breckinridge, of Mo., rose, but was decided to be out of order, not being a member. er. Geo. W. Cartia, of New Tork, rose, and als that the Missouri question must be met, and settled, and he where better than here in also Couvention. So far as appears, the restion of their was almost manipounity. of Burnside.
Mr. Knee, of Ind., moved that Mr. King's amerdment be laid on the table. He subsequently with draw it and demoded the previous question.

Hon. Preston King, of New York, then read his minority report, which provided that the delegates from Missouri be admitted to the foor, that when they agree on a rote they shall cast the rote to which the State is entitled, and that when they cannot agree that they shall not vote. He moved his report as a substitute for the other reports. NATIONAL CENTRAL COMMITTEE The following gentlemen were anno by the different States and Territories National Central Committee:
